CREATURE ATLAS

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

American Green Tree Frog

Hyla cinerea

The American Green Tree Frog is a small, slender amphibian known for its vibrant green color and distinctive white or yellow stripe running from its jaw along each side. This species is nocturnal and…

Quick facts

Classification: Amphibian
Family: Hylidae
Habitat: Wetlands and marshes near freshwater sources
Diet: Carnivore
Conservation status: Least Concern
Lifespan: 2-6 years
Weight: 5-14 grams
Scientific name: Hyla cinerea

Did you know?

- Despite their name, American Green Tree Frogs may be found in a variety of colors, including shades of yellow and olive, depending on their environme…
- American Green Tree Frogs can change their color from bright green to brown depending on temperature and humidity. They are state amphibians of both …

What I learned

© Creature Atlas · www.creatureatlas.com · Free for classroom & personal use