

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

---

Cane Toad

Rhinella marina

The cane toad is a large, terrestrial amphibian native to Central and South America but has been introduced to Australia and several Pacific islands. Known for its warty, dry skin and robust build, t...

Quick facts

Classification: Amphibian

Family: Bufonidae

Habitat: Tropical and subtropical grasslands, forests, and urban areas

Diet: Omnivore

Conservation status: Least Concern

Lifespan: 10-15 years

Weight: 0.5–2.5 kg

Scientific name: Rhinella marina

Did you know?

- A single female cane toad can lay up to 30,000 eggs in one breeding season.
- Cane toads were introduced to Australia in 1935 to control sugarcane pests, but instead became a notorious invasive species. Their toxic secretions c...

What I learned

---

---