CREATURE ATLAS

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

Cuban Tody

Todus multicolor

The Cuban Tody is a small, vibrantly colored bird endemic to Cuba, recognized for its bright green upperparts, white underparts, pink flanks, and striking red throat. This charming bird measures only…

Quick facts

Classification: Bird
Family: Todidae
Habitat: Humid forests, woodlands, and forest edges
Diet: Carnivore
Conservation status: Least Concern
Lifespan: 7-11 years
Weight: 5-7 grams
Scientific name: Todus multicolor

Did you know?

- The Cuban Tody is one of only five species in the tody family, all of which are found exclusively in the Caribbean.
- Cuban Todies nest in burrows that they excavate in clay banks, often forming tunnels up to 30 cm long. Their vibrant coloration serves as camouflage …

What I learned

© Creature Atlas · www.creatureatlas.com · Free for classroom & personal use