CREATURE ATLAS

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

Dugite

Pseudonaja affinis

The Dugite is a slender, highly venomous snake native to southwestern Australia. Characterized by its variable coloration, ranging from olive green to brown or grey, it often blends seamlessly with i…

Quick facts

Classification: Reptile
Family: Elapidae
Habitat: Coastal and inland regions, woodlands, grasslands, scrublands, and urban environments
Diet: Carnivore
Conservation status: Least Concern
Lifespan: 10-15 years
Weight: 0.5-2 kg
Scientific name: Pseudonaja affinis

Did you know?

- The Dugite is a member of the same genus as the infamous Eastern Brown Snake, making it one of the world's most venomous snakes.
- Dugites are among the most commonly encountered venomous snakes in Perth, Australia. Their venom is extremely potent and can be fatal if untreated, b…

What I learned

© Creature Atlas · www.creatureatlas.com · Free for classroom & personal use