CREATURE ATLAS

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

Eastern Green Mamba

Dendroaspis angusticeps

The Eastern Green Mamba is a slender, highly arboreal snake native to the coastal regions of East Africa. Its vibrant green coloration provides excellent camouflage among the leafy canopies where it …

Quick facts

Classification: Reptile
Family: Elapidae
Habitat: Coastal forests and thickets
Diet: Carnivore
Conservation status: Least Concern
Lifespan: 12-20 years
Weight: 0.5-1.4 kg
Scientific name: Dendroaspis angusticeps

Did you know?

- The Eastern Green Mamba's eggs are incubated by the warmth of decaying vegetation, not by parental care.
- Eastern Green Mambas are expert climbers and rarely descend to the ground except to lay eggs. Despite their potent venom, bites on humans are rare du…

What I learned

© Creature Atlas · www.creatureatlas.com · Free for classroom & personal use