CREATURE ATLAS

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

Eastern Narrow-mouthed Toad

Gastrophryne carolinensis

The Eastern Narrow-mouthed Toad is a small, secretive amphibian known for its pointed snout and fold of skin located behind the eyes. Its coloration varies from gray to brown or reddish, often with m…

Quick facts

Classification: Amphibian
Family: Microhylidae
Habitat: Moist forests, grasslands, wetlands, and areas with abundant leaf litter
Diet: Carnivore
Conservation status: Least Concern
Lifespan: 4-7 years
Weight: 2-4 grams
Scientific name: Gastrophryne carolinensis

Did you know?

- Unlike many amphibians, the Eastern Narrow-mouthed Toad often calls from hidden locations, making its loud, sheep-like bleat surprisingly difficult t…
- The Eastern Narrow-mouthed Toad secretes a sticky, mildly irritating substance from its skin as a defense against predators. It has a unique fold of …

What I learned

© Creature Atlas · www.creatureatlas.com · Free for classroom & personal use