

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

Eurasian Jay

Garrulus glandarius

The Eurasian Jay is a striking and intelligent bird known for its pinkish-brown plumage, bright blue and black wing patches, and distinctive white rump. Native to woodlands across Europe and parts of...

Quick facts

Classification: BirdFamily: CorvidaeHabitat: Deciduous and mixed woodlandsDiet: OmnivoreConservation status: Least ConcernLifespan: 5-16 yearsWeight: 140-190 gScientific name: Garrulus glandarius

Did you know?

- A single Eurasian Jay can hide up to 5,000 acorns in one autumn, remembering the locations months later.
- Eurasian Jays can mimic the calls of other birds and even some mammals. They are famous for their habit of caching thousands of acorns each autumn fo...

What I learned
