CREATURE ATLAS

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

European Fire-bellied Toad

Bombina bombina

The European Fire-bellied Toad is a small, brightly colored amphibian known for its vibrant orange-red belly, which it displays as a warning to predators. Its back is covered in warty, olive-green sk…

Quick facts

Classification: Amphibian
Family: Bombinatoridae
Habitat: Freshwater wetlands
Diet: Carnivore
Conservation status: Least Concern
Lifespan: 10-15 years
Weight: 8-14 grams
Scientific name: Bombina bombina

Did you know?

- The bright belly of the European Fire-bellied Toad acts as a warning sign, signaling to predators that it is toxic and unpalatable.
- Despite their small size, European Fire-bellied Toads can produce a potent skin toxin to deter predators. Their unique courtship call, which sounds l…

What I learned

© Creature Atlas · www.creatureatlas.com · Free for classroom & personal use