CREATURE ATLAS

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

Fiordland Penguin

Eudyptes pachyrhynchus

The Fiordland Penguin, also known as the Fiordland Crested Penguin, is a medium-sized penguin native to the temperate rainforests and rugged coastlines of New Zealand's South Island. It is recognized…

Quick facts

Classification: Bird
Family: Spheniscidae
Habitat: Temperate coastal rainforest and rocky shorelines
Diet: Carnivore
Conservation status: Vulnerable
Lifespan: 10-20 years
Weight: 2.5-4 kg
Scientific name: Eudyptes pachyrhynchus

Did you know?

- Fiordland Penguins can travel over 1,000 kilometers at sea outside the breeding season, venturing as far as Tasmania and the southern Australian coas…
- Fiordland Penguins are one of the world's rarest penguin species and are famous for their loud braying calls, especially during the breeding season. …

What I learned

© Creature Atlas · www.creatureatlas.com · Free for classroom & personal use