

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

Greater Kudu

Tragelaphus strepsiceros

The greater kudu is a large antelope native to eastern and southern Africa, renowned for its impressive spiral horns and striking white body stripes. Adult males possess long, twisted horns that can ...

Quick facts

Classification: Mammal

Family: Bovidae

Habitat: Savanna woodlands and bushlands

Diet: Herbivore

Conservation status: Least Concern

Lifespan: 7-15 years

Weight: 120-315 kg

Scientific name: Tragelaphus strepsiceros

Did you know?

- Despite their large size, greater kudus are remarkably silent and elusive, often going unnoticed even in relatively open habitats.
- Male greater kudus have some of the longest horns among antelopes, with up to 2.5 spirals. Their vertical white stripes provide excellent camouflage ...

What I learned
