CREATURE ATLAS

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

Green Jay

Cyanocorax yncas

The Green Jay is a strikingly colorful bird native to Central and South America, easily recognized by its vivid green upperparts, bright blue head markings, and yellow underparts. Highly social, Gree…

Quick facts

Classification: Bird
Family: Corvidae
Habitat: Subtropical and tropical forests, woodlands, and scrublands
Diet: Omnivore
Conservation status: Least Concern
Lifespan: 10-15 years
Weight: 65-110 grams
Scientific name: Cyanocorax yncas

Did you know?

- Unlike many birds, Green Jays use tools such as sticks to extract insects from bark or crevices.
- Green Jays have the ability to mimic the calls of other bird species, and they often work together in groups to mob predators and defend their territ…

What I learned

© Creature Atlas · www.creatureatlas.com · Free for classroom & personal use