

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

Javan Rhinoceros

Rhinoceros sondaicus

The Javan Rhinoceros is one of the world's rarest large mammals, native to the dense tropical forests of Southeast Asia. It is characterized by its single horn, greyish skin that forms loose folds, a...

Quick facts

Classification: Mammal

Family: Rhinocerotidae

Habitat: Tropical lowland rainforest

Diet: Herbivore

Conservation status: Critically Endangered

Lifespan: 30-45 years

Weight: 900-2,300 kg

Scientific name: Rhinoceros sondaicus

Did you know?

- There are fewer than 80 Javan Rhinoceroses left in the world, all living in a single forest in Indonesia.
- Javan rhinos have only one horn, unlike some rhino species which have two. They are excellent swimmers and often wallow in mud to cool down and avoid...

What I learned
