

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

Northern Quoll

Dasyurus hallucatus

The Northern Quoll is a small, carnivorous marsupial native to northern Australia, recognized by its pointed snout, large eyes, and distinctive white spots on a brownish-grey coat. Agile and nocturna...

Quick facts

Classification: Mammal

Family: Dasyuridae

Habitat: Rocky areas, forests, savannas

Diet: Carnivore

Conservation status: Endangered

Lifespan: 2-5 years

Weight: 500–1,200 grams

Scientific name: Dasyurus hallucatus

Did you know?

- The introduction of poisonous cane toads to Australia has caused dramatic declines in Northern Quoll populations, as the quolls die after eating the ...
- Male Northern Quolls die en masse after their first breeding season due to an extreme reproductive strategy called semelparity. They are excellent cl...

What I learned
