CREATURE ATLAS

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

Oriental Bicolor

Felis catus

The Oriental Bicolor is a distinctive domestic cat breed known for its elegant, slender body and striking bicolor coat pattern. It is closely related to the Oriental Shorthair but is distinguished by…

Quick facts

Classification: Mammal
Family: Felidae
Habitat: Domestic (Household)
Diet: Carnivore
Conservation status: Least Concern
Lifespan: 12-16 years
Weight: 3.5-5.5 kg
Scientific name: Felis catus

Did you know?

- The Oriental Bicolor breed was first recognized in Europe in the 1980s, making it one of the newer pedigreed breeds in the cat fancy world.
- Oriental Bicolors are known for their vocal personalities and love of interactive play. The breed allows almost any color in combination with white, …

What I learned

© Creature Atlas · www.creatureatlas.com · Free for classroom & personal use