

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

Raas Cat

Felis catus

The Raas cat is a rare and unique domestic cat breed originating from Raas Island, off the coast of East Java, Indonesia. It is known for its striking appearance, often featuring a solid blue-gray or...

Quick facts

Classification: Mammal

Family: Felidae

Habitat: Domestic; originally from forested and rural areas on Raas Island

Diet: Carnivore

Conservation status: Rare (not evaluated by IUCN, but considered rare and unique to its region)

Lifespan: 12-16 years

Weight: 3-6 kg

Scientific name: Felis catus

Did you know?

- Exporting Raas cats from Raas Island is traditionally forbidden, making them nearly impossible to find outside Indonesia.
- Raas cats are often called the 'Indonesian Blue,' and are believed by locals to possess mystical powers. They are one of the very few naturally occur...

What I learned
