

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

Rhinoceros Hornbill

Buceros rhinoceros

The Rhinoceros Hornbill is a large and striking bird native to the lowland and montane forests of Southeast Asia. Distinguished by its impressive yellow-orange casque on top of its bill, this hornbil...

Quick facts

Classification: Bird

Family: Bucerotidae

Habitat: Tropical and subtropical rainforest

Diet: Omnivore

Conservation status: Vulnerable

Lifespan: 35-40 years

Weight: 2-3 kg

Scientific name: Buceros rhinoceros

Did you know?

- Despite their size and powerful beaks, Rhinoceros Hornbills primarily eat fruit, but will also take small animals and insects when available.
- Rhinoceros Hornbills have a unique nesting behavior where the female is sealed inside a tree cavity during incubation, relying on the male to bring h...

What I learned
