

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

Rosy barb

Pethia conchonius

The Rosy barb is a vibrant freshwater fish native to South Asia, particularly found in rivers and lakes of India, Bangladesh, and Nepal. It is well known for its striking pink to reddish coloration, ...

Quick facts

Classification: FishFamily: CyprinidaeHabitat: Freshwater rivers, streams, and lakesDiet: OmnivoreConservation status: Least ConcernLifespan: 5-7 yearsWeight: 4-7 gramsScientific name: Pethia conchonius

Did you know?

- During breeding, male Rosy barbs turn a deep red to impress females and establish dominance.
- Rosy barbs display sexual dimorphism, with males being more colorful than females. They are known to exhibit playful schooling behavior and can jump ...

What I learned

.....

.....