CREATURE ATLAS

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

Sundew Spider

Hibana futilis

The Sundew Spider (Hibana futilis) is a small, agile hunting spider commonly found in North and Central America. It is named for its resemblance to the sticky-leaved sundew plant, as it often waits m…

Quick facts

Classification: Invertebrate
Family: Anyphaenidae
Habitat: Forests and grasslands
Diet: Carnivore
Conservation status: Least Concern
Lifespan: 1-2 years
Weight: 0.01-0.03 grams
Scientific name: Hibana futilis

Did you know?

- Despite its small size, the Sundew Spider can leap several times its body length to ambush prey.
- The Sundew Spider is known for its active hunting style rather than building webs. Its name comes from its similarity in appearance and hunting techn…

What I learned

© Creature Atlas · www.creatureatlas.com · Free for classroom & personal use