CREATURE ATLAS

Animal Fact Sheet

Name: _____ Date: _____

York Chocolate

Felis catus

The York Chocolate is a rare domestic cat breed developed in the United States in the 1980s, recognized for its luxurious, semi-long, chocolate-brown or lavender coat. With a gentle and affectionate …

Quick facts

Classification: Mammal
Family: Felidae
Habitat: Domestic
Diet: Carnivore
Conservation status: Not Evaluated
Lifespan: 13-15 years
Weight: 4-7 kg
Scientific name: Felis catus

Did you know?

- Despite its appealing traits, the York Chocolate is not recognized by major international cat registries and is considered nearly extinct as an offic…
- York Chocolates are often described as 'dog-like' due to their loyalty and tendency to follow their owners around the house. The breed was founded fr…

What I learned

© Creature Atlas · www.creatureatlas.com · Free for classroom & personal use